

Our work

Abloom is on track, and we're staying on track. We've managed to bring people together to build relationships, give people work experience, increased knowledge and belief that they are valuable members of Norwegian society. Through projects, activities, media products, pop-up festivals and much more, we have taken Norway's disability movement into the new Norway. A Norway that is more diverse!

Abloom's goals as an employer

Be a safe, empowering and inclusive arena for production, discussions, learning and follow-up. Provide work experience/internships to people who would otherwise not have the opportunity to gain knowledge and experience in the labour market. Open the door to Norwegian society. It is particularly important for us to help refugees, people with disabilities and single parents with minority backgrounds and young people in risk groups. Be an active player in society where employees/volunteers can know that they are doing something positive for society.
